WHAT ARE THE BENEFITS OF ATTENDING?

No more guesswork: Understanding a candidate's temperament greatly improves your ability to predict on-the-job performance. You reduce reliance on "gut feeling" when making hiring decisions. It has been demonstrated that personality tests, if used correctly, can greatly improve the hiring process.

Improve your interview process: Hiring managers can use customized behavioral interview questions and probes to increase objectivity and consistency in the interview process. By focusing on behavioral factors that are relevant to success, managers use their time more effectively and make more-informed decisions.
